

Dedication to St. John Paul II & an Opening Prayer

CONTENTS: CONCEPTION: AN ICON OF
THE BEGINNING

“The Creation of the Cosmos”: a Poem by Grace Marie Urlakis and Biography

General Foreword and Biography:

Dr. Mary Anne Urlakis

Introduction: “Nothing Comes from nothing” (Parmenides)

Icon

Image and Likeness

An Irrevocable, Covenantal Call to the Moral Life

Conclusion: ‘[A] living icon of the imago Dei’

“In the Beginning”: a Poem by Grace Marie Urlakis

“Flame of Life” and Artist’s Statement by Marco Riccardo Intra Sidola

A Prologue in Five Parts

Part I: Exploring Expressions of the Beginning of Personhood

The Seed

We are a Present

A Philosophical Psalm 139

Part II: When does the Life of a Human Being Begin?

Where the Body Lives, there the Soul is, and where both are is the Human Person

God Creates “As a Whole”

A Point of Departure in the Reality of our Beginning

The Prior-to-Thought Reality of what actually Exists

Part III: A Comment on the Work as a Whole

Exploring the Conceptualization of the Beginning of Human Personhood

Part IV: The Hippocratic Oath of Kos (400 BC)

A Work Old and New

Hippocratic Oath of Kos (400 BC)

Part V: A General Introduction to Each Chapter

Chapter 1: On the Use of the Imagination

Chapter 2: Scriptural Insights into the Origin of Human Being

Chapter 3: What does the Church Teach “Today” about the “Moment” of our Beginning

Chapter 4: Philosophical and Theological Dialogue

Chapter 5: The Being of the Blessed Trinity “Founds” Human Being (I); the Biological Status of the Human Embryo (II); and The Gift and Rights of being Conceived-in-Relationship: We are an Icon of the Beginning (III)

Foreword to Chapter One and Biography:

Fr. Joseph Tham, LC

Biography

Foreword to Chapter 1: On “alternative imaginations”

“Only a god can save us”

The ‘beautiful icons of creation’

Appealing to the ‘power of imagery’

“Birthright” and Artist’s Statement by Eric Carson

Chapter One: Imagination

Imagination

Chapter One: Part I of III: Sections: Ii-Iiii: On the Use of the Imagination

Imagine

Chapter One: Part Ii: Imagining Origins

The Question of Origin

Each of us Begins

Scripture?

Chapter One: Part Iii: Imagining Futures

Imagining the Future

Starting with Personal Experience

Alternatively: At the “End” and the “Beginning of Life

What is the Difference between an Artificial and a Human Intelligence?

Chapter One: Part Iiii: What is the Imagination?

What is the Imagination?

Chapter One: Part II of III: Sections Iiii-IIiv: Questioning Our Existence

Questioning our Existence

Different ways of Questioning our Existence

Chapter One: Part Iiii: Who Am I?

Are we in a Dream? We can “Investigate” our own Existence

Chapter One: Part Iiiii: Am I a Robot?

You or I could be a Robot. Are we a part of the Script or a Script Writer?

Chapter One: Part IIiv: Am I a Martian?

How do I Know that I am a Human Being and not a Being from Mars?

Chapter One: Part III of III: Sections IIIi-IIIvii: A New Beginning: Imagining “Body” and “Soul”

A Reasonable Use of the Imagination

Chapter One: Part IIIi: “Making” Visible the Invisible

Chapter One: Part IIIii: Remember the “Moment” of Putting Pen to Paper

An Event Expressed in Material, Time, Space and Meaning

The Analogy or Likeness between Writing and Conception

Chapter One: Part IIIiii: Light: Fuelled Radiating Energy

The Comparison of Lighting a Candle and Conception

In the Shadow of a Light

Chapter One: Part IIIiv: Architecture and Soil

Architecture: from House to Home

From Seed-Bulb to Plant

Chapter One: Part IIIv: Comparing one Act of God with another

The Incarnation

Chapter One: Part IIIvi: Word and Meaning: One

“Needs” the Other?

Chapter One: Part IIIvii: The Need for a New Explanation of Conception: the Wholeness of Being one in “Body” and “Soul”

A New Explanation Does not Mean the Whole

Language is New

Ideas Old and New

A Limitation in these Ideas

Towards a New way of Understanding the Unity of the Person

Foreword to Chapter Two and Biography:

Ronda Chervin, PhD

Biography

Foreword to Chapter 2: Pondering how Philosophical

Concepts concerning the Human Person can be related to the Truth of Revelation

From Uncertainty to the Facts about Human

Conception
Is Being a Woman or a Man an Essential part of the Person?
God's Personal Creative Love for each of us
The Cat and I

“Tatar Couple” and Artist’s Statement by Bela Fishbeyn

Chapter Two: Scripture and the Beginning of Human Being

Scriptural Insights into the Origin of Human Being Both Circling and Coming to the Central Texts

Chapter Two: Part I of XII: Drawing on General Principles of Scriptural Interpretation

A Note on Language: a more General Comment on Meaning and the Socio-Cultural Context of Words

Chapter Two: Part II of XII: The ‘Word became flesh’ (Jn 1:14)

Chapter Two: Part III of XII: Scripture Says: ‘In the beginning’ (Gn 1: 1): Philosophy and Theology in Dialogue

A Brief Philosophical Look at the Question of a
Beginning
A Brief Theological Look at the Question of our Beginning

Chapter Three: Part IV of XII: In the Beginning, God Created (Gn1:1)

Drawing further on the Opening Chapters of Genesis for the Relationship of Creator to creature

Thus one is Brought to Consider the Mystery of the Holy Spirit

The Creation of Man, Male and Female
The Origin of Man in the Context of Original Sin

Chapter Two: Part V of XII: The Woman's Perception of Conception

Chapter Two: Part VI of XII: In the Light of the Woman's Perception of Conception, let us Return to The First Book of Moses, but also Jacob, Rachel and Job
Job Expresses Remarkably "Prescient" Imagery or Accounts of the Nascent Human Reality

Chapter Two: Part VII of XII: The Significance of Blood

Chapter Two: Part VIII of XII: Where is the Creation of the Soul in all this?
The Soul is, as it were, Hidden
The Emphasis of the Biblical Author is on the Totality of "Life" and "Death"

Chapter Two: Part IX of XII: The Opening Chapters of Genesis are an Expression of an Integral Gift of Life
Revisiting the Act of Creation: Time as an "Instant" and as a "Duration" of Development
A Second Difficulty: An Account of Making Man which is Instantaneous and an Account which "Takes" Time
The Help of Aristotle in Understanding the Implicit "Witness" to the Human Soul
Applying the Philosopher's Terminology to the Sacred Author's Imaginative Understanding of the Beginning of Human Life
A Relevant Discussion on 'Formless Matter'
(Wis 11: 17)
Drawing on this Meditation on Genesis

Chapter Two: Part X of XII: ‘Your eyes beheld my unformed substance’ (Ps 139: 16)

General observations on Psalm 139

This Psalm and the Personal Act of Creation

Particular Observations on Psalm 139

Psalm 139 Echoes Genesis 1 and 2

The Third Stanza

Other Texts on the Beginning of Life Leading to the Ultimate Question about the Conception of Christ

Combining Traditions: On Conception and Fertile

Barrenness

Chapter Two: Part XI of XII: A Patristic Consensus Concerning the Conception of Christ

Chapter Two: Part XII of XII: A Critically Rounded Account of the Conceptions of Christ, Mary and Each of Us

Jesus and the Fathers

Mary and the Fathers

Each of Us and the Fathers

Foreword to Chapter Three and Biography:

Fr. Michael Baggot, LC

Biography

Foreword to Chapter 3: What does the Church Say

“Today” about the Moment of our Beginning?

The Need for an Adequate Anthropology

Parents Enter into a Unique Participation in the

Creative power and Providential Care of the Lord of all History

The Church’s Inexhaustibly Rich Patrimony of

Teaching on God’s Plan for Marriage and the Family

“Matrix” and Artist’s Statement by Alison Batley, USA

Chapter Three: What Does the Church Teach “Today” about the Moment of our Beginning?

“Today”

Understanding “Today” in the Modern History of the Church

A Development of Doctrine: An Ongoing Work?

Gaudium et Spes, 1965

Humanae Vitae, 1968

Let Me Live: the Declaration by the Sacred

Congregation of the Faith on Procured Abortion, 1974

Familiaris Consortio, 1981

Making Explicit the Philosophical Implications of a Theological Reality

Donum Vitae, 1987

Address at the “University of Uppsala”, 9th June, 1989

In the Service of Life: The Pontifical Council for the Family, 1991

Veritatis Splendor, 1993

Conversely, St. John Paul II Leaves out nothing
Acceptable to Reason and Includes Everything
Acceptable to Christ and His Church

What are the Implications of how these Issues are Treated in Veritatis Splendor for a Theological Understanding of the Nature of Human Conception?

A Letter to Families, 1994

Extracts from ‘The Genealogy of the Person’

An “Incarnational” Understanding Discloses the Secret that Fulfilment is Found in “Being-in-Relationship”

Evangelium Vitae, 1995

Dignitatis Personae, 2008

Foreword to Chapter Four and Biography:

Sr. Helena Burns, fsp

Biography

Foreword: Human Conception in the Context of our Culture

Human beginnings: A Response of Reverence, Wonder and Joy

Science Updates the Church's Teaching on the Sacredness of Human Life

Modern Science and Good Philosophy Contradict the Delayed "Personhood Theory"

Not a Potential Person but a Person with Potential

Chapter Four: How Does Philosophy help us to Understand the "Moment" of Human Beginning?

Philosophical and Theological dialogue

Being and Beginning

Chapter Four: Part I of V: A Definition of Being

Being

Proceeding to a Definition of Being: Unity-in-Diversity

A Point of Departure in the Being of Christ

A Point of Departure in the Being of the Blessed Trinity

What are the Conceptual Requirements that an Image of Human Being, which is in the Image of the Divine

Being, must Fulfil?

A Template of Human Being

An Imaginative Synthesis: 'the burning coal' (Is 6: 6)

The Expression of the Relationship between "Grace" and "Human Nature" and "Soul" and "Body" in Philosophical terms

The Soul as "Life" and the "Activity" of the Soul

How widely can the Principle of Unity-in-Diversity be Applied?

Three Conclusions on the Nature of Being

The First Implication: the Beginning of Creation
The Second Implication: Human Being
The Third Implication: Answering the Philosophical Problems of Uniformity or Irreconcilable Diversity

Chapter Four: Part II of V: Defining what Exists

Questions have Answers

A Working Definition of Terms

God

Person

Definitions and use of the term Person

Person and Action

Christ and Human Action

Action Manifests Being

The Body is Male or Female

The Act of Creation is a Personal Act

The Transmission of Life at the Origin of Bodily

Expressed Personhood

A Personal Being: Human Being-in-Relation

Matter

Signate, Concrete or Actual "Matter"

'First Matter' and 'Formless Matter'

Genesis: 'First Matter' or 'Formless Matter'

Continuity and Discontinuity in the Order of Being

What kind of Act is an Act of Creation?

Discontinuity as a Principle of Design

How to Understand the Integration of these "Elements" in the Totality of the Whole Person

The Human Body: Seven Characteristics

Parts of a Whole

A Hierarchical or a Chronological Order?

The Essence of what Exists

Chapter Four: Part III of V: Form; Matter; Cause; Unity; and Personhood

There are Three Sections to Part III, “Exploring Ideas of ‘Form’” (IIIi); “Metaphysics ... the Underlying Principles of what Exists” (IIIii); and “A Preliminary Discussion of the Personalization of Matter”.

Chapter Four: Part IIIi: Exploring Ideas of ‘Form’

Ideas as Embodied Form

‘Form’ as a Universal and ‘Form’ as a Particular

The Cause and Type of Human Form

The Cause of Human Personhood

Soul, Particularly the Human Soul

The Particularity of the Soul: Especially the Human Soul

The Principal Activities of the Soul

Like and unlike Life

Chapter Four: Part IIIii: Metaphysics ... the Underlying Principles of what Exists

Metaphysics

Revisiting ‘First Matter’ and ‘Form’

Returning to “First Matter” and the Integral Nature of Human Existence

Accidental and Substantial Being: What Exists and the Changes it Undergoes

One or Three Types of ‘Form’ in Human Being?

The Progress of a “Relationship”

Are ‘Forms’ Intelligent?

Activity and “Intelligent” or Goal Directed Activity

Levels of Activity and the Coherence of the Whole

What if ‘First Matter’ is a Metaphysical Possibility because of Aristotle’s Conception of Matter Being

Eternal? Or a Succession of ‘forms’ which Require there to be a State of Matter which Makes this Possibility Possible?

Chapter Four: Part IIIiii: A Preliminary Discussion of the Personalization of Matter

- The Personalization of Matter
 - Animation and the “Levels of Matter”
 - The Human Soul is the Life of the Body
 - The “Personalization” of Matter
 - The Relation of the Human Soul to Biologically Human Matter
 - A Working Definition of Human Being
 - One or Many ‘Substantial Forms’ to the Human Being?
 - Passive Receptivity or Reciprocal Co-Constituents of Human Being?
 - The Reciprocal Insights of “Life” and “Death” Conception or Education?

Chapter Four: Part IV of V: An Analogy

- The Whole Person
- An Analogy: the Washing Machine
 - A Goal-Governed Process
 - The Idea as “Germ” of the Goal
 - The “Design-Form” and the “Concrete” Object: a Constant Relationship in an Ongoing Process of Change
 - The “Termini” of the Process of Change
 - Time and Change
 - The Agent-Builder and the Limitations of the Analogy
 - A number of weaknesses in this Analogy
 - Two Implications: the Relation of the Design-Form to the Material Object and the Whole Cannot but Exist in Relation to its Maker

Chapter Four: Part V of V: Facts, Difficulties and a Way Forward

- Facts and Difficulties

Twins: a New Beginning
The Truth of a Principle and the Remaining Questions
The Possible Death of a First Child
The Possibility of Twins Being “Recombined”
Conjoined Twins imply a Real “Moment of Beginning”
How are we to Understand what Constitutes the Necessary and Sufficient Basis of the Living Body?
A Way Forward: the Possibility of “Common” Knowledge

“Baby is the Best Healing Gift” and Artist’s Statement by Isao Kurihara

Foreword to Chapter Five and Biography:

Kathleen Sweeney

Biography

Foreword: “The Trinitarian Structure of the World’s Reality”

A Child is the Outward Expression of Spousal Love

We draw upon Reason and Revelation

“Whoever welcomes one such child in my name, welcomes me”

Christ chose to come into the World as a Human Embryo

“Take My Soul” and Artist’s Statement by Andrea Colella, Italy

Chapter Five: Finding a Place to Begin: The “Being” of the Blessed Trinity “Founds” Human Being

Just as the Existence of God is “Before”, so the Truth about God is “Prior” to the Truth about Creation

Chapter Five: Part I: The “Being” of the Blessed Trinity “Founds” Human Being

Naming is a Dialogue

God is the “Archetypal Form” of Being
The First Principle of Being is therefore ‘Unity-in-Diversity’
A Definition of an ‘Integral Vision’ of Man
Man is made in the Image of God
The Beginning of an Integral Vision of Man

Chapter Five: Part II: General Introduction: From Relationship to Relationship by Francis Etheredge

The “Book” Position of this paper by Justo Aznar and Julio Tudela
Where there is a Human Being there is a Human Being-in-Relationship
Establishing our Common Humanity establishes the Reality of an Ethical Relationship between us

Biographies of Professors Justo Aznar and Julio Tudela

Chapter Five: Part II: The Biological Status of the early Human Embryo: When does Human Life Begin?

A Paper by Professors Justo Aznar and Julio Tudela

Introduction

Four different Positions on the early Human Embryo’s Biological Nature

Is the early Embryo a living Being of our Species?

1. The Genetic Identity of the Human Embryo
2. Is the early Human Embryo an Organized and living Human Being?

A brief Review of these Biological Processes

The early Embryo has its own Cell Lineage, Timing, and Architecture from the Beginning

3. The Nature of the Human Embryo obtained by Somatic Cell Nuclear Transfer (Cloning) or Parthenogenesis

4. Arguments against the Position that the Zygote is a Human Individual
5. Final Considerations

Chapter Five: Part III: The Gift and Rights of Being Conceived-in-Relationship: We are an Icon of the Beginning

- The help of Faith and Reason
- The Gift and Rights of being Conceived
- Beginning an unfolding of Human Personhood (I-V)
 - What is Conception? (I)
 - Conception in the Teaching of the Church (II)
 - Conception in the Mysteries of Mary and Jesus and each of us (III)
 - The Fact of Human Conception (IIIi)
 - The Reciprocal Relationship between Natural and Revealed Truth (IIIii)
 - The Morality of Embryonic Transfer (IV)
 - Natural Arguments for Embryonic Transfer and Adoption (IVi)
 - The Supernatural Arguments for Embryonic Adoption (IVii)
 - The Adoption of the Embryonic Human Child (V)

The Reality of two Children: Spencer and Caroline

Five Conclusions

First Conclusion: The Virtue of Simplicity

Second Conclusion: A Summary of the Arguments for the Existence of the Soul from Conception

Third Conclusion: A Summary of the Arguments against the Theory of Evolutionary Development from one kind of Being

Fourth Conclusion: The Social Advance of Truth
Concerning Conception

Fifth Conclusion in Two Parts:

Part I: Faith in God: Convergence from Different
Philosophical and Religious Traditions

Part II: A Warning from Mother Teresa: Abortion leads to Nuclear War

“Death of Birthright” and Artist’s Statement by Natacha Horn

“Blessings”

“Afar Women of Ethiopia” and Artist’s Statement by Jerry Galea (Australia)

Epilogue

“An End Word: A New Beginning” and Biography by Elizabeth Bothamley Rex, PhD

Biography

Introduction

A Look “Back”: A History of Human Fertilization and Conception from 1818 to the Present

A Look “In the Book”: Five Points from Chapter Five

A Look “Forward”: Starting from the ‘aweinspiring and “transformative” first moment of human conception’

Conclusion: A Bold New Beginning

The Light of Life